5. Follow up on the survey meeting

The survey meeting was a constructive meeting, but not so many showed up.

The next steps for the equality board:

The mentorship system: In order to implement the mentor system, the students should commit to the system, and then the school can facilitate. The students will discuss further to see how it can be implemented. The BFA1 course has a mentor structure now with two teachers following them for a semester.

Accessibility of literature and internal communication: the school is working on this now with a canvas solution for course literature.

A student counselor on faculty level – it has been addressed on faculty level.

Workshops for the student body on anti-discrimination.

A suggestion that came up: to have a student page on canvas to communicate between students.
